Background

The European Commission's Directorate General for Research and Innovation has launched, in cooperation with the National Science and Technology Council, a series of initiatives at the technical level to support Taiwan's participation in the EU's research and innovation programme 'Horizon Europe' and to connect the EU and Taiwan's R&I communities.

This activity has the objective to foster interactions and networking among entities and researchers based in the EU and Taiwan. Participants will be able to get practical information from the EU implementing agencies on the application processes for Horizon Europe calls for proposals, and to hear from successful applicants about their experience.
